Physical Presence Test

Foreign Earned Income Exclusion | Tax Year 2025

Projected coverage increases by 14 days

Reference date: January 14, 2026; completed through January 13. Later days are proposed.

Tax-year coverage comparison

Completed basis	Projected scenario	Difference
351 / 365 96.16%	365 / 365 100.00%	+14 days +3.84 percentage points

Completed: 351/365 = 0.961644. Projected: 365/365 = 1.000000. The difference is 14/365 = 0.038356.

Completed supporting period
December 18, 2024 to December 17, 2025

330 assumed full foreign days + 35 recorded U.S. days = 365 calendar days. Tax-year intersection: January 1 to December 17, 2025 (351 days).

Projected supporting periods
December 18, 2024 to December 17, 2025

330 full foreign days (0 proposed); 35 recorded U.S. days.

July 3, 2025 to July 2, 2026

330 full foreign days (167 proposed); 32 recorded U.S. days; 3 unresolved days, counted as zero foreign.

Relevant travel and proposed continuation

Original source dates / classification	Completed	Projected[1]
May 31 to June 29, 2025 / U.S.	30	30
December 13, 2025 to January 13, 2026 / U.S.	5	32
January 14 to June 29, 2026 / proposed foreign	0	167

[1] Distinct days within the union of scenario supporting periods; overlapping days count once. Completed counts use the completed supporting period.

The additional December 18–31 coverage depends on the proposed continuation occurring as modeled; proposed days are not completed evidence.

Completed counts use the stated 2015–2025 assumption and exceptions. Tax home and eligibility are unverified; eligible income and exclusion amounts are not calculated.

IRS physical-presence guidance IRS exclusion computation