FEIE Window Optimizer

Tax year 2026 | Scenario | by Cameron Guthrie

Calendar tax year: 2026
Assessment: Projected physical-presence coverage
Input: Scenario including proposed/future travel
As of: 2026-10-13 (UTC date); generated: 2026-10-13T07:02:50.223Z
Application 0.2.0-rc.1; calculation physical-presence-2

PHYSICAL-PRESENCE COVERAGE
365 / 365 = 1.000000 (display rounded; exact fraction shown).
Passing ordinary-date periods: 71. Supporting periods: 1.
Covered: 2026-01-01 to 2026-12-31 (365 days).

SUPPORTING TWELVE-MONTH PERIODS
2026-01-01 to 2026-12-31 (365 calendar days)
Full foreign days: 365 / 330 required; recorded completed: 285; assumed: 0; projected foreign: 80; unknown: 0. Assumed and projected counts can overlap.
Tax-year intersection: 365 days.

SOURCE RECORDS RELEVANT TO THE EVALUATION HORIZON
9a485bf9-5239-490a-b2ed-5958f716f927 | 2026-01-01 to 2026-10-12 | Full foreign days | completed | Synthetic review
0c55fcd8-1836-4087-bb01-eda001358a6e | 2026-10-13 to 2026-12-31 | Full foreign days | proposed | Synthetic review

NORMALIZED DAYS ACTUALLY EVALUATED: 2025-01-02 to 2027-12-30
2025-01-02 to 2025-12-31 | unknown | unrecorded | completed/unknown | source unrecorded
2026-01-01 to 2026-10-12 | foreign | recorded | completed/unknown | source 9a485bf9-5239-490a-b2ed-5958f716f927
2026-10-13 to 2026-12-31 | foreign | recorded | projected | source 0c55fcd8-1836-4087-bb01-eda001358a6e
2027-01-01 to 2027-12-30 | unknown | unrecorded | completed/unknown | source unrecorded

ASSUMPTIONS AND PREPARER NOTES
1. This report evaluates the ordinary physical-presence day test, not complete FEIE eligibility, actual foreign earned income or tax savings. Foreign tax home, citizenship/residency, elections and other eligibility rules require independent review.
2. Foreign ranges use first and last FULL foreign days, inclusive. Arrival/departure, U.S. territories, extended international-water travel and uncertain days do not automatically count. Short transit between foreign countries requires checking IRS rules.
3. Unrecorded dates remain unknown and count as zero foreign days. U.S. visits do not imply foreign presence on other dates. Declared foreign ranges are assumptions, overridden by explicit exceptions.
4. Tax-year coverage is the union of all supported qualifying periods intersecting this calendar year. Overlapping days count once. Coverage may include U.S. days; it is different from days physically abroad and from eligible foreign income.
5. Coverage is based on supplied evidence and can increase when missing records are supplied. The displayed fraction is conditional physical-presence coverage divided by calendar-year days, not a dollar exclusion.
6. Completed calculation excludes proposed records and dates on or after 2026-10-13 (UTC reference date). Scenario calculations include those dates as projected; neither scenario records nor changing years replace completed history.
7. Supporting periods are chosen deterministically: cover the first uncovered day with the passing period ending latest, then repeat. This compact set covers the same union as every passing ordinary-date period.
8. February 29 starts have an unresolved endpoint convention. Ordinary-date periods supply the baseline. A separate longer-convention sensitivity result is shown whenever it adds coverage.
9. Form 2555 line 16 requests a single twelve-month period. Multiple supporting periods in this working report require preparer review of filing/attachment treatment. Do not enter the combined span as one twelve-month period.
10. Sources: 26 CFR 1.911-2(d) and 1.911-3(d)(3); IRM 21.8.1.3.2(9)(d); IRS physical-presence guidance; 2025 Form 2555 instructions. Waivers, bona fide residence, special relief and monetary calculations are outside this tool.
11. https://www.irs.gov/individuals/international-taxpayers/foreign-earned-income-exclusion-physical-presence-test
12. https://www.irs.gov/irm/part21/irm_21-008-001r
13. https://www.irs.gov/instructions/i2555
14. https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-26/section-1.911-3

For informational use only. Not legal or tax advice.